FELLOWS CLE RESEARCH SEMINAR (CLE REQUESTED):
“Speaking for the Dying: Life, Death, and Law”
Friday, February 14 | 2:00 PM – 3:30 PM
JW Marriott Hotel, 110 E. 2nd St.

Seven in ten Americans over the age of 60 who require medical decisions in the final days of life lack capacity to make them. For many of us, the biggest life-and-death decisions—literally—of our lives or of those we love will be made by someone else.

The recent publication of Speaking for the Dying: Life-and-Death Decisions in Intensive Care by ABF research professor, Susan Shapiro, coincided with the passage of a new ABA resolution that reconsiders the role of lawyers in advance care planning. This research seminar marries these empirical and policy perspectives. Drawing on more than two years of observations in two intensive care units, Shapiro describes how decision makers for patients without capacity to speak for themselves actually make life-and-death decisions on their behalf and the limited role of advance directives in this process. In addition to describing the new ABA guidance for lawyers, the panel will also provide the perspective of an ethics consultant facing these wrenching decisions on the ground, day after day.

This program is co-sponsored by the ABA Commission on Law and Aging, ABA Health Law Section, ABA Judicial Division, ABA Real Property, Trust and Estate Law Section, ABA Section of Family Law, ABA Senior Lawyers Division, ABA Solo, Small Firm and General Practice Division, and ABA Young Lawyers Division.

Moderator: Jo Ann Engelhardt, Managing Director and Senior Client Advisor, Bessemer Trust
Panelists: Susan P. Shapiro, Research Professor, American Bar Foundation
Virginia A. Brown, Assistant Professor, Dell Medical School, The University of Texas at Austin
Charles P. Sabatino, Director, American Bar Association Commission on Law and Aging
