

Jonathan Feingold is a Research Fellow in BruinX, a multidisciplinary research and development team within UCLA's Office of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion. Much of Jon's recent scholarship has drawn on emerging social science to inform contemporary debates about affirmative action in higher education and beyond. Representative articles include Hidden in Plain Sight: a More Compelling Case for Diversity, 2019 Utah L. Rev. 59 (2019), and SFFA v. Harvard: How Affirmative Action Myths Mask White Bonus, Calif. L. Rev. (forthcoming 2019). Jon received a 2014 California Lawyer Attorneys of the Year Award for work done in connection with Rodriguez v. Robbins, a case concerning immigrant detainees' right to bond hearings. Jon graduated from UCLA School of Law with a specialization in Critical Race Studies.
