MAX ELLIOTT PRESENTS CLE WITH LAWLINE ON NAVIGATING PITFALLS WHEN REPRESENTING FAMILY OWNED BUSINESSES

CHICAGO, Ill.: On May 19, 2017, Maximillienne “Max” Elliott of The Law Offices of Max Elliott, Ltd. presented “Planning for Family Owned Businesses: Avoiding Landslides and Earthquakes while Building Legacies” a Continuing Legal Education program with Lawline. Broadcast live online and recorded at Lawline’s New York Studio, the program offered viewers information on family-owned business planning.

Lawline is a leading provider of online continuing legal education offering legal intelligence to attorneys across the country with over 2 million CLE courses completed to-date. Lawline offers timely legal content that supports attorneys throughout their practice. Lawline is headquartered in downtown Manhattan and has received several awards recognizing its excellent product, expert faculty, and superior service.

The Law Offices of Max Elliott provides estate and business planning services to the LGBTQ community, African-American professionals, and female small business owners. A graduate of DePaul University College of Law and Northwestern University, within the last 18 months, Elliott has been recognized as a “Rising Star” by Super Lawyers®; admitted to the National Black Lawyers Top 100 organization; appointed as an American Bar Foundation Fellow; and serves as a member of the Chicago Bar Association’s Trust Law Executive Committee.

Because of Elliott’s previous business planning experience, her small firm was one of the first small firms in Illinois to recognize how technology could help serve more clients more efficiently by using client portals, thus changing the legal delivery service model for small firm attorneys.
