The Fellows

The Fellows of the American Bar Foundation were organized in the fall of the 1955-1956 Foundation year. This organization gives countrywide support throughout the profession to the work of the Foundation. It is a method of recognizing lawyers of outstanding character, achievement, and professional stature. It widens the scope of active participation in the research and library programs of the Foundation. Finally, it provides an opportunity for the Fellows to assist in the financing of these programs.

The national character of the Fellows is set by allocation of memberships among the states in proportion to their lawyer population. Total membership under the state quotas is 788. In addition, there are 50 Members-At-Large. One or two Honorary Members are elected by the Fellows at each annual meeting.

At the end of the 1964 calendar year, the Fellows included 148 Life Members. Most of those who have become Life Members were originally invited to join in the fall of 1955 and over the years have completed their fiscal undertaking through annual contributions of $100.00 for this ten year period. A number of Life Members have anticipated contributions beyond 1964. Completion of the contribution to Life Membership creates a vacancy which, like the state quotas based upon lawyer population, is filled by election by the Board of Directors following nomination by the Fellows from the particular state.

Nomination by the state Fellows is based upon a determination that the nominee has demonstrated as a member of the American Bar Association and in his professional, public, and private career outstanding dedication to the welfare of his community and the objectives of the American Bar Association coupled with a desire to improve the law, the administration of justice, and the legal profession by participation in the research program of the Foundation.

Fellows participate in Foundation work in several ways. At least five of the ten elected Directors must be Fellows, and the Chairman of the Fellows is an ex-officio Director. Fellows serve on the Standing and Special Committees established by the Board and on the Special Advisory Committees which are established for each of the Foundation's major research projects. Fellows may act as readers of Foundation research reports prior to their final acceptance for publication. All Fellows receive copies of research reports immediately upon publication, assuring prompt distribution of the findings of the projects into the key channels of the legal profession. Book reviews by Fellows are also helpful in this regard.

Direct exposure to at least one of the Foundation's current or recently completed projects is scheduled as a regular part of the Fellows' Annual Meetings. Project Directors and members of the staff assigned to a particular project customarily outline the problem under investigation and the findings and recommendations. This is followed by an open discussion.

Subjects of the seminars held at these Annual Meetings have been:

1960 — Survey of the Administration of Criminal Justice in the United States
1961 — The Law of Outer Space
        Hospitalization and Discharge of the Mentally Ill
1962 — The Application of Computer Technology to Legal Research
1963 — Agrarian Planning and Development
1964 — The Representation of Indigent Accused Persons
1965 — Hospitalization and Discharge of the Mentally Ill
Last to be discussed, but certainly not least in importance to the well-being of the Foundation, are the annual contributions of the Fellows, which, as a regular source of income to the Foundation, are included in the annual budget. The Fellows' support to the Foundation from the fiscal year 1955-1956 to 1963-1964 totaled $561,800. That for the fiscal year 1963-1964 was $90,300.

“In sum, the Fellows constitute a fraternal group of distinguished members of the profession who have as a common bond their desire to fulfill their responsibilities to the law and to the profession by participating in and supporting the activities of the Foundation.”

The American Bar Foundation — What It Is and What It Does, 1962

The Fellows officers and recipients of Fellows Awards, Honorary Memberships, and Special Citations at the eight annual meetings of the Fellows through the year 1964 are listed in the pages that follow. This commemorative report is dedicated to the Fellows of the American Bar Foundation on the occasion of their tenth anniversary and the tenth anniversary of the Foundation's operations at its headquarters, the American Bar Center.

Foundation Officers,
Board Members

Pictured in this section are two Foundation Presidents, Robert G. Storey, President when the Foundation was incorporated in 1952, and William J. Jameson, President while the American Bar Center was under construction. Also shown are the later Foundation Presidents, Messrs. Malone, Randall, and Seymour. Loyd Wright, pictured earlier, was President during the initial year of Foundation operations at the Center. Upon completion of his term as President he was elected first Chairman of the Fellows. Under the original By-Laws of the Foundation, the President of the American Bar Association held office as President of the American Bar Foundation for a one year term. This was the case with Mr. Malone and Mr. Randall.

The structure of the Foundation was changed at the Annual Meeting of the Foundation held in August, 1961, and Whitney North Seymour of New York City, who had held the dual office, was re-elected President of the Foundation. Mr. Seymour served as President of the Foundation for four years, retiring from that office at the Foundation's Annual Meeting in September, 1964, but continuing his service on the Board of Directors and its Executive Committee.
William T. Gossett of Detroit, who had been Vice-President for three years, was elected the new President of the Foundation in 1964. At the same time, Ross L. Malone, Roswell, New Mexico, was elected Vice-President, and Robert K. Bell, Ocean City, New Jersey, and Glenn M. Coulter, Detroit, were re-elected as Secretary and Treasurer, respectively.

The purpose and objectives of the Foundation have been summarized by the retiring President, Whitney North Seymour:

"With a dedicated staff and a high purpose, the American Bar Foundation is becoming the nerve center for the development of new and useful ideas, as well as for the collection and dissemination of the results of research conducted elsewhere. In its field, it is a unique and independent institution, established by the leaders of the American Bar to serve both the public and the legal profession. In recent years the technological world, with its advances in science, engineering, and medicine, has been moving faster than the organization of the social order in which we live. Political, economic and social problems have been arising far more rapidly than their solutions have been found. The American Bar Foundation, through its legal research facilities, will add to our knowledge and thus furnish materials which will courage the legal system to keep pace with the contemporary scene. It will help close the gap by increasing our professional reach, without surrendering the values which have brought us the long distance we have already come.”

*The American Bar Foundation —
What It Is and What It Does, 1962*
Administration—The

John Cobb Cooper of Princeton, New Jersey, was elected as the first Administrator of the Foundation in 1954. Mr. Cooper had served as Chairman of the Research and Library Committees in developing an operational plan for the Foundation. He was the Administrator from 1954 until the summer of 1957 except for a short period in the spring of 1955. Upon Mr. Cooper’s resignation, first Frederick B. MacKinnon, then John C. Leary, who is now Deputy Administrator/Librarian, managed the Foundation pending the selection of a permanent Administrator.

E. Blythe Stason of Ann Arbor, Michigan, Chairman of the Foundation's Research Committee, was elected Administrator at the Foundation's Annual Meeting in the fall of 1959. Serving in that capacity on a part time basis during his final year as Dean of the University of Michigan Law School, Dean Stason moved to Chicago and assumed full time responsibilities as Administrator in the fall of 1960. He retired at the August, 1964, Annual Meeting and resumed his law teaching career at Vanderbilt.

Both Mr. Cooper and Dean Stason are recognized scholars. Each had years of active participation in the work of his own state bar association and the American Bar Association. Mr. Cooper was a pioneering scholar on the law of air flight and easily turned to the law of outer space, one of the Foundation's early research projects. Dean Stason, in turn, was a pioneer scholar in administrative law, particularly state administrative law, and in recent years has devoted particular attention to legal problems involved in the peaceful uses of the atom.

The steady growth of the Foundation, the research produced during this initial ten year period, and the research now in progress evidence the merited confidence of the various officers and Boards under whom Mr. Cooper and Dean Stason served. They reflect also the inspiration and loyalty that Dean Stason and Mr. Cooper have instilled in the Foundation staff members who served under them.
Research Program

Mr. Cooper and Dean Stason were Fellows-At-Large and have become Life Members. Mr. Cooper received the Research Award of the Fellows in 1959. Dean Stason is to receive that award at the 1965 Fellows Annual Meeting.

Geoffrey C. Hazard, Jr., was elected Administrator at the 1964 Annual Meeting of the Board. Mr. Hazard, a member of the law faculty of the University of Chicago, was formerly professor of law at the University of California in Berkeley. He became a law teacher in 1958 after three years in private practice in Portland, Oregon, and served as Deputy Legislative Counsel and staff executive of Oregon’s 1957 Interim Committee on Judicial Administration.

Mr. Hazard is author of a study Research in Civil Procedure, published in 1963 as part of a series of surveys on research in law commissioned by the Walter E. Meyer Research Institute of Law. He is co-author of a book (1962), Pleading and Procedure, State and Federal, and has written a number of articles for law reviews and legal journals on administrative procedure, the law and mental illness, and legal history.

Among the recent publications of the Foundation are a third Check List of American Bar Association Publications, which supplements and brings down to date the Check List of Publications of Sections and the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association, released in 1961 and including the Association's general publications. Specialization in the Medical and Legal Professions, by Glenn Greenwood and Robert F. Frederickson, and Contingent Fees for Legal Services, by F. B. MacKinnon, were published in the summer of 1964.

Analyzing legislation regulating consumer finance, Trends in Consumer Credit Legislation, by Barbara A. Curran, will be available in the spring. The University of Chicago Press is the publisher.

In March, 1965, Little, Brown and Company will publish The Fundamentals of Legal Drafting, written for the Foundation by Reed Dickerson of the faculty of Indiana University. In February, 1965, copies of the 1964 Lawyer Statistical Report will be distributed. This analysis of the lawyer population of the country will be the fifth number in this Foundation series. Like its predecessors, it will be based upon the information in the 1964 Martindale-Hubbell Directory and will be produced in cooperation with that company.

Frank E. Cooper's work, State Administrative Procedures, a comprehensive examination of the statutes and significant judicial decisions dealing with the procedure of state administrative agencies, is in the hands of readers for final review. It will be published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company. The William W. Cook Fund of the University of Michigan Law School and the Foundation are sharing the research costs.

Several members of the Taxation Section of the American Bar Association have been serving on the Advisory Committee for the Foundation—Brookings Institution study of federal tax procedures. Encompassing the administrative and judicial procedures involved in disputed substantive federal tax questions, this project is being directed by Professors L. Hart Wright and Alan N. Polasky of the University of Michigan Law School. It is anticipated that all major issues in the proposed report will have been reviewed with the committee, permitting completion of the report by summer.
Also scheduled for summer, 1965, is publication of the reports Hospitalization and Discharge of the Mentally Ill and Representation of Indigent Accused Persons. A summary report on the findings of the research on the Indigent Accused project was distributed to the House of Delegates in New York City last August.

By the end of the summer, 1965, the Foundation will have available the results of the experimentation in legal research by electronic retrieval machines. Technical manpower and other aid is being given by International Business Machines Corporation.

In the field of interest to the Corporation, Banking and Business Law Section, the treatise, Model Business Corporation Act Annotated, has been kept up to date by the release of the 1964 pocket parts. The Section's Corporate Laws Committee has acted in an editorial capacity in the production of the treatise and its pocket parts and plans to continue this cooperative endeavor in the future. Twenty-eight lawyers expert in the field are serving on the Advisory Committee for the project on Corporate Debt Financing, directed by Lawrence Bennett and Leonard Adkins of New York City. Now planned for 1965 publication are model provisions with annotations and extended commentaries on negotiable provisions for debenture indentures; comparable research documents on mortgage indentures will follow thereafter.

The massive initial research endeavor of the Foundation, the Survey of the Administration of Criminal Justice in the United States, was begun ten years ago. Little, Brown and Company will publish the initial volume, Arrest, in February, 1965. The other four volumes are: Detection, Prosecution, Conviction, and Sentencing. Foundation officers, its Administrator and staff members have joined in a determination to conclude this project by completing the remaining volumes in the planned series during the year 1965 and to publish them promptly.

Two new projects have just started. Members of the Family Law Section are helping the Foundation by serving on the Advisory Committee for a project designated "Conciliation of Disrupted Marriages Through the Judiciary and Other Agencies." A second new project, Law Of Outer Space, which is being financed in large part by contract with the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, is a renewal of the Foundation's research interest in this subject. The first Foundation book on outer space was published in 1961.

Two manuscripts, Agricultural Planning and Foreign Investment and Economic Integration: Ireland and the Common Market, are now being examined by readers and will be published after editorial review and revision.
The William Nelson Cromwell Library

The William Nelson Cromwell Library, which was formally dedicated on February 22, 1955, has continued to serve the organized bar from that time. In its holdings are the archival collection of the American Bar Association, basic legal sources, materials of particular interest to the Foundation research program, and the publications of state and local bar associations. Of interest to the Fellows is a collection of materials that were written by the Fellows themselves.

During the past year, Carroll C. Moreland has joined the staff as Associate Librarian. Mr. Moreland, former Law Librarian at the University of Pennsylvania, has returned to the United States after two years of teaching library science in Pakistan. In addition to his library responsibilities, Mr. Moreland is preparing a study, Trends in Continuing Legal Education.

Mrs. Faye A. Hankin, Cataloger-Bibliographer, was responsible for the tabulation of the 1964 Lawyer Statistical Report. Additional publications by the professional staff members of the library during the past year have been O. Gabriel Gara's edition of the Index to Legal Theses and Research Projects and Virgil L. Pederson's Check List of the Special and Standing Committees of the American Bar Association and Checklist of American Bar Association General Publications with a Supplement to the Check list of Section Publications. Mr. Olavi Maru has completed the manuscript of an international directory of bar associations. Among other projects presently being conducted by staff members are an annotated bibliography of legal bibliographies, a subject-indexed annotated digest of ethics opinions of state and local bar associations, an index to state bar association proceedings, and the 1965 edition of the Index to Legal Theses and Research Projects.

A recently developed collection in the library consists of the continuing legal education materials published by the legal profession, with emphasis on the CLE programs of state and local bar associations. The library staff will prepare and distribute periodic holdings lists of the materials in this collection for use in post-admission legal education.
The Cromwell Library collection has continued to grow with the expanded activities of its staff and its services to the legal profession; its holdings on June 30th for the past two years have been:
